The 2008 National Conference promises to be the largest national gathering ever in the movement against the predatory gambling trade.

Your attendance gets you a lot. It gives you the chance to be connected to an emerging, vibrant national movement to stop predatory gambling. It allows you to meet some of the leading voices against this economic and public health menace. It provides you the best opportunity to expose gambling on a national stage. And lastly, it offers you the unique ability to share your experiences and knowledge with citizens from across the country, reminding each of us that we are not alone in this fight. This conference, like those in the past, will renew the passion in our hearts.

Presenters include:

Keynote Speaker Taylor Branch, one of America's most distinguished historians and winner of the Pulitzer Prize.

Dr. Roger Horbay, one of the world's leading experts on the design and technology of electronic gambling machines.

Dr. David Blankenhorn, President of The Institute of American Values, who directed one of the most talked about reports of 2008 titled For a New Thrift: Confronting the Debt Culture. Dr. Blankenhorn takes dead aim at state-sponsored gambling's role in trapping millions of Americans in a culture of debt.

And many more. Check www.ncalg.org for up-to-date program changes.

Learn more about:

- State Lotteries: In a nation founded on hard work and thrift, states are turning more and more to lotteries and a "cut of the action" from casinos to fund their budgets. Learn why and how this is a lose-lose proposition.
- Tribal Casinos: Off-reservation casinos continue to threaten communities across the nation in ways never intended in the 1988 Indian Gaming Regulatory Act. See what communities and the courts are doing today.
- Internet gambling: We have won major battles in Congress again this year as online predators try to unravel the Wire Act and the UIGEA.
- Predatory machines and casinos: From subliminal messaging to learn the addictive tricks casinos are willing to try to take more money from your community.
